Project aim: Education through Oral History Fieldwork: 2009-2012

The project's objective is to offer possibilities to learn and to develop an educational program in the field of oral history. Innovative approaches for involving the community and stimulating the exchange of reminiscences will be illustrated through people's life experience in different countries.

Working methods: The objective will be met by compiling approaches and methods from Baltic-Nordic research experiences. The activities include fieldwork in communities, courses, seminars and debating activities with biographical research partners.

Project time table (start and end dates): 01.09.2009 – 1.09.2012

Results, products: (books, reports, etc. in pdf or other format)

The outcome of the project will be a training program for adult volunteers and a methodological handbook for the education of biography writers and interviewers.

Life stories recorded during field work will be published and the results of field work will be included in an exhibition, also will be accessible in pdf format.

Th regular internet publication of an activities overview (www.dzivesstasts.lv, Facebook).
